

San Juan Island National Historical Park

English Camp

Welcome to English Camp, the northern unit of San Juan Island National Historical Park. The site includes nearly 350 acres of saltwater shoreline, forest uplands, four historic structures, a small formal garden and a historic cemetery. A visitor center in the Royal Marine barracks is open daily from June to September, and is closed during the winter months. Grounds are open year round from dawn to 11:00 p.m. Pets must be kept on leash within park boundaries. Natural features and ruins must be left undisturbed.

Young Hill

Young Hill — Hike the fairly steep trail up 650 feet to the top of Young Hill for a panoramic view of the island's northwest corner. A wayside exhibit just below the summit offers a historical perspective and identifies various features in the Canadian Gulf and San Juan islands. (1.25 mi.)

English Camp Cemetery — The cemetery is located at the end of a spur trail on the way to the Young Hill summit. Five Royal Marines and one civilian were interred here during the joint occupation. (.5 mi.)
